

Published based on Royal Enfield Gear Debuts At The Expo.

Royal Enfield Gear Debuts At The Expo

A few months ago, we reported on the plans of Royal Enfield to launch exclusive lifestyle gear for Bulleters. Now the company will reveal these accessories for the first time officially at the upcoming Auto Expo, which takes place in New Delhi early next month. The company will also showcase its entire range of motorcycles along with a few concepts. The Royal Enfield Gear (as it will be known), will be available across all RE Brand Stores across the country. The branded gear is not only made for replicating Harley Davidson, but has been carefully designed to help riders on their motorcycles. The accessories have been carefully engineered to be comfortable while riding your bike.

So what all can we expect from Royal Enfield? Well there are riding boots, gloves, jackets, helmets, raincoats, rackers, panniers, etc. Royal Enfield does not plan to charge a premium for these products and intends to make it affordable for people to buy them. Expect value for money pricing on these, which will help the Bullet craze go one notch higher. Ducati has been offering riding gear through its website successfully and we hope Royal Enfield does the same. This will make it easier for buyers to order the riding gear from the historic bike maker.

You can also find this article published on Royal Enfield Gear Debuts At The Expo, and on the tag pages Royal Enfield.