

Published based on TVS Launches Balancing Wheels

TVS Launches Balancing Wheels

Country's third largest two-wheeler manufacturer TVS Motor Company on Wednesday launched 'Balancing Wheels', a set of additional wheels that comes as a accessory which can be fixed on its variant Scooty. Balancing Wheels is meant for new bike readers and mainly learners who do not know how to balance a two wheeler.

"It is a simple innovation that makes learning to ride a two-wheeler easy, convenient and safe", TVS Motor Company General Manager Marketing S Srinivas said. "Balancing Wheels, help to overcome the fear of falling that almost everyone experiences while learning to ride, thereby, making the learning process much faster and easier".

TVS has put Balancing Wheels through rigorous tests to ensure durability and safety for users. However, TVS recommends that learners ride slowly to begin with and limit the top speed to 40 kmph.

You can also find this article published on TVS Launches Balancing Wheels, and on the tag pages TVS.