

Published based on Audi India Launches New Q7

Audi India Launches New Q7

Audi India has launched the 2010 Audi Q7 in three engine variants. The new Q7 is available in 3.0 TDI quattro (240HP, 550NM), 3.6 FSI quattro (280HP, 360NM) and 4.2 FSI quattro (350HP, 440NM) options and is priced at Rs 55.2 lakh, Rs 53.4 lakh and Rs 59.9 lakh (ex-showroom, Mumbai) respectively. The engines are mated to a six-speed tiptronic gearbox.

The Audi Q7 has a number of new features like voice control, 18-inch wheels, adaptive air suspension, LED day time running lights, Xenon headlights. Enhancements in the front include smaller exterior mirrors, contrasting paint finish for the bumper and main body, an enhanced single-frame radiator grille, restyled bumpers, a newly ribbed designed integrated underbody guard in the center section of the bumper. Additions to the rear of the new Audi Q7 have the bumper with a contrasting paint finish and a restyled tailgate.

The top-of-the line version of the MMI systems includes a hard disk drive, a single DVD player, and voice control, with the option of including a Bluetooth telephone, an advanced radio tuner, Rear Seat Entertainment Preparation, and the Advanced Sound System from Bang & Olufsen. The new Audi Q7 is available in new colors like Ibis White, Teak Brown, Orca Black and Graphite Grey as well as the existing colors which include Deep Black, Bahia Beige, Cobalt Blue, Condor Grey, Ice Silver, Garnet Red and Lava Grey.

You can also find this article published on Audi India Launches New Q7, and on the tag pages Audi Q7.