Refreshed Audi Q7 India Launch In 2010

Audi will introduce its facelifted Q7 in India next year. The new Audi Q7 will go on sale in Europe soon. Some of the changes in the 2010 Q7 include a restyled grille, tweaked lights with Audi's LED technology and a slightly tweaked chin, but there's no way you can mistake the Q7 for anything else.

Audi has also developed a 'clean diesel' version of the 3.0-litre V6 TDi which is reputed to be Euro 6 compliant and uses an AdBlue catalyst, but whether this version will be available in India isn't clear. The 4.2-litre FSI petrol has been retained and the monstrous 6.0-litre V12 TDi will not make it to India.
