

Published based on GM Unveils Chevrolet Cruze Hatchback

GM Unveils Chevrolet Cruze Hatchback

Chevrolet Europe has released the first images of the highly anticipated five-door Cruze hatchback showcar which was designed and built by Holden's Port Melbourne design studio. The showcar with its sweeping coupe roofline and short overhangs is a precursor to a production model, also designed by Holden that will be built in several countries, including Australia where it will start product in late 2011. Holden Chief Designer Richard Ferlazzo said the project had been a significant undertaking for the studio which had spent more than 12 months working with GM designers from around the world developing the hatch variant. Will it come to India? Our guess is as good as yours!

You can also find this article published on GM Unveils Chevrolet Cruze Hatchback, and on the tag pages Chevrolet Cruze.