Ford Recalls Fiesta In India

Looks like recall time is not yet over and all of a sudden major automobile companies are announcing one. However, Ford India hasn't made any official announcement nor sent out any press release yet but is recalling the Fiesta silently through its dealers. The company is replacing AC thermostat on the Fiesta which never seems to cut-off on high/low mode and keeps running continuously. The recalled Fiesta belongs to a batch of cars manufactured in the last three-six months, so if your car belongs to that batch, your Ford dealer will get in touch with you for replacement.
