

Published based on GM New Small Car

GM New Small Car

General Motors Corp plans to launch a new small car in India in the second half of 2009, but has no plans to take on Tata Motor's low-cost Nano, its India head said on Thursday.

It will be a global car meant primarily for emerging markets and will have design inputs from India, Karly Slym said on the sidelines of a news conference.

You can also find this article published on GM New Small Car, and on the tag pages GM.