2011 Honda Accord Launch In February

Honda India will launch a minor facelifted Accord in next month. The 2011 Honda Accord's exterior now features a new style for the front grille, front bumper and rear deck lid, along with a new wheel design. The climate control buttons are now positioned on the right side of the instrument cluster, closer to the driver and less frequently used buttons are shifted to the left side (a slight revamp of the center console). There will be no change in the engine specifications on the car and the same 2.4L and 3.5L petrol motors will continue to do duty on this Honda.
