Honda City Concept

Honda performed the world debut of a concept version of the new generation City sedan at this week's 2008 Australian International Motor Show in Sydney. The City sedan that has already been introduced in production form in India.

The concept version of the City sedan was festooned with decorative carbon-fiber trim on the grille, the door sills and the new aerodynamically shaped exterior mirrors that house a set of rear-view cameras. Other mods include the futuristic LED headlights and tail lamps, the new alloy wheel designs and the side skirts.
