

Published based on Honda Civic Facelift

Honda Civic Facelift

The Honda Civic has been selling unchanged since 2005 and now Honda has given it a small facelift in its home market in Japan. These changes although minor will be carried over to the Indian Civic as well in due time.

These changes are also known as MMC (Mid Life Minor Changes) and the changes are indeed difficult to spot unless you are Sherlock Homes. On the exterior there is a new wider front grille design with a thicker chrome bar, a new sportier front bumper with wide air intakes and new tail lamps. The interior gets new trim for the seats and a slight update to the audio system.

You can also find this article published on Honda Civic Facelift, and on the tag pages Honda Civic.