

Published based on Honda CR-Z Concept

Honda CR-Z Concept

Futuristic styling. Hybrid power. Advanced interior design. And it's all wrapped up in a lightweight, fun-to-drive package. What a concept! It's the Honda CR-Z concept. The Honda CR-Z concept made its North American debut at the 2008 North American International Auto Show (NAIAS) in Detroit.

Shorthand for "Compact Renaissance Zero," the CR-Z is a forward-thinking exercise in inspired design and environmental technology. The CR-Z draws its inspiration from a need to deliver spirited performance in an efficient manner. It is Honda's goal to deliver a small CR-Z-based hybrid in the near future as part of their commitment to help effect positive environmental change. So keep on the lookout for more details about the CR-Z.

You can also find this article published on Honda CR-Z Concept, and on the tag pages Honda CR-Z.