Hyundai Recalling 515 Tucson SUVs In US

Hyundai is recalling more than 515 Tucson SUVs in the United States due to potentially defective airbags. The recalled vehicles were made in South Korea and exported to the US from 10-30th November, 2009. The recall is the second such announcement in a week from the Korean automaker who is also recalling 47,300 of its latest Sonata in the US and the domestic market due to a possible door lock problem. The company sold 2,216 Tucsons in the US in January.
