Hyundai i10 Facelift HQ Pictures

Hyundai has unveiled the company's and Korea's first Full Speed Electric Vehicle (FSEV) named 'BlueOn,' opening a new era in eco-friendly technology. Hyundai invested a total of about 40 billion won over a one year period to create BlueOn, which is based on the i10. The electric version of i10 was first unveiled at the Frankfurt Motor Show in 2009 and was showcased at the 2010 Auto Expo in Delhi. The Blueon won't make it to India but the soon to be launched i10 facelift will look exactly like the Blueon. So here you go, these are the pictures of the upcoming Hyundai i10 facelift.
