

Published based on Hyundai India Considering i10 Diesel Launch

Hyundai India Considering i10 Diesel Launch

Just last month we spoke about the i10 diesel not being launched in this generation i10 here, but now reports seems to suggest otherwise. Coming under great threat from the Ford Figo, Hyundai seems to be reconsidering launching a diesel powered i10. Earlier the company was only worried about the Nissan Micra but the launch of the Figo and the new Maruti WagonR has made the company think thrice. A Hyundai spokesperson has hinted on a diesel engine for the i10 being in the pipe line but no date has been mentioned. We can only wait but looking at the way Ford has aggressively priced the Figo diesel, Hyundai will need to work really hard on cost reduction to ensure they can still catch the 'i'.

You can also find this article published on Hyundai India Considering i10 Diesel Launch, and on the tag pages Hyundai i10.