

Published based on Hyundai i20 Diesel Launch This Year

Hyundai i20 Diesel Launch This Year

Hyundai will bring the diesel variant of the i20 in India by the end of this year as part of its plan of introducing at least two new products in the Indian market annually for the next couple of years. The company is looking to enhance its share in the 10 lakh-units Indian car market through newer products and the Hyundai i20 diesel would be one of them.

"Hyundai plans to introduce at least two new products in the Indian market annually for the next couple of years. The i20 diesel variant would be the next in line with launch scheduled for later in 2009," an official at Hyundai headquarters said.

You can also find this article published on Hyundai i20 Diesel Launch This Year, and on the tag pages Hyundai i20.