

Published based on Lamborghini Estoque Concept

Lamborghini Estoque Concept

The Lamborghini 4 door is not going to be called the Urus but will be known as the Estoque. Estoque is a small blade that delivers the death blow to a bull at the end of a stadium fight. The previous release by Lamborghini of the headlight made us think this car would'nt look as good as expected and the press release from Lamborghini confirms the same. I mean, just look at it, this is the ugliest Lamborghini ever by the Tractor maker.

Rumors are that it will be powered by the 560-hp V10 from the Gallardo LP 560-4, and will be having all-wheel-drive. Though it's showing up, as a concept, at the Paris Motor Show tomorrow, the Estoque is said to be destined for production as early as 2010 to compete with the new crop of four-door coupes from Porsche and Aston Martin. Check out the pics below.

You can also find this article published on Lamborghini Estoque Concept, and on the tag pages Lamborghini Estoque.