Range Rover Evoque India Launch In 2012

The Range Rover Evoque will be the most fuel efficient SUV to roll out of Land Rover stable. Tata Motors plans to bring the compact SUV to India by early next year, after its global launch in September, 2011. The Evoque is the company's attempt to increase sales of its cars by making it more environment friendly and affordable. With a claimed mileage of 21kmpl and CO2 emissions of just 120 g/km, the Evoque will compete with the Chevrolet Captiva, Ford Endeavour, Toyota Fortuner and the BMW X1.
