2012 Mahindra Bolero Facelift Launched

Mahindra has launched the Bolero facelift in India. The new Bolero is available in three variants - SLE priced at Rs. 6.33 lakhs, SLX priced at Rs. 6.81 lakhs and ZLX priced at Rs. 6.96 lakhs (all prices ex-showroom, Delhi for BSIV versions). The Bolero is powered by the M2DICR engine that produces 63 BHP of power and 3200 RPM and 195 Nm of torque between 1400-2200 RPM. This engine is mated to a 5-speed manual gearbox and returns an ARAI certified mileage of 15.96 kmpl.

The utility maker has given the Bolero an upgrade to both the exteriors and interiors and the MUV now features new headlamps, new grille, new bumpers, rear wiper, digital instrumentation, new steering wheel, new gear knob, aluminum inserts and wood trims, dual tone seats, driver information system, voice messaging system, engine immobilizer, body decals and micro hybrid technology. The new Bolero is available in six colours - black, silver, beige, brown, white and red. The vehicle has 215/75/165 tyres and a ground clearance of 180 mm. Mahindra offers 12 months, unlimited warranty on the Bolero.
