M&M Cuts Logan Prices By Rs 80,000

MotorBeam.com

Just about a week after its break up with Renault, Mahindra and Mahindra announced a price cut of Rs 24,000 - Rs 80,000 on the Logan to provide good value for money to its customers. The very rift between Mahindra and Renault was all about the design and engineering of the Logan. With a stream of freshly designed cars being rolled out by its rivals, Mahindra knows that its impossible to run the race with only one model, that too a dated one. The price cut may lift the sales a bit but the Logan needs to be upgraded quickly to have any chance of holding off the competition.
