

Published based on A-Star October Launch

A-Star October Launch

Maruti Suzuki plans to launch the A-Star in the Indian market in October and will start exporting the A-Star from December or January. The car is being tested extensively by Maruti in India and does not look all that impressive. It will be priced between 3-4 lacs which seems quite value and will use the next generation K series engine. The 1.0 liter K series engine will be Euro IV ready and will have good low end torque. Initially, the car will be exported to Europe and will be sold as the new Alto.

You can also find this article published on A-Star October Launch, and on the tag pages A-Star.