

Published based on Maruti A-Star AT Launch This Week

Maruti A-Star AT Launch This Week

Maruti Suzuki is set to roll out the automatic version of the A-Star by the end of this week. The A star is powered by a 1 liter K-Series engine and the automatic version will be a boon for those who want an effortless driving experience without shelling out too much booty. Maruti will be using a 4 speed automatic gearbox and the car will weigh around 915 kgs as compared to 880 kgs for the manual one. The A Star automatic was recently launched in Malaysia and is manufactured by Maruti Suzuki in India and exported as a CBU. Naturally it will be priced more than the manual. Keep watching for more. Test Drive Review coming soon.

You can also find this article published on Maruti A-Star AT Launch This Week, and on the tag pages Maruti A-Star.