Although the Suzuki Alto Concept is nothing close to the Maruti A-Star concept, it still exists for two reasons. The first being it is not as tiny as the current Alto and the other being its meant for the markets where the current Alto is not sold. This car runs on a 3-cylinder 658cc engine mated to a CVT transmission, making it the ideal candidate for your next Golf Cart. As is clearly evident from the pictures, the car is a bigger version of the current Alto/A-Star. Actually it looks more like the A-Star and Estilo gave birth to the Alto Concept but as long as this car is not intended to hit Indian shores, we are not bothered much!
