New Maruti Swift Game Is Silly

If you happen to go on the low bandwidth site of the new Maruti Swift, you get to play a game. The game has a Maruti Swift which has to be driven by you over rocks and the likes. We don't know what Maruti Suzuki thinks but this is one of the silliest things you would expect on any car makers website. We mean common, why would anyone want to jump a hatchback like its some SUV. Anyways, if you think you have time on your hands, you can go play here. But don't blame us, cause we warned you before about this stupid game is best left avoided.

The low bandwidth website of the new Maruti Swift has another game (on the same page) where you can play football (thanks ThisPointer for the tip). There are no goals to be made.
