Maruti Suzuki Launch New Estilo

Maruti Suzuki India has launched an all new Estilo with the latest K-series engine which powers the Maruti A-Star too. The Maruti Estilo is being offered at an introductory price between Rs 3.12 lakh and Rs 3.95 lakh (ex-showroom, Delhi). The new Estilo is said to give 18.2kmpl of mileage according to ARAI. Maruti Suzuki has dropped the very successful Zen name from the Estilo as it does not suit the current taste of Indian youth, to whom this car is targeted.

"Product upgradation is an integral part of Maruti Suzuki's business strategy and future plans. This is a way to include feedback from the customers and offer better products that match their tastes," Maruti Suzuki India MD and CEO Shinzo Nakanishi said.

The Estilo gets new styling at the front which includes a revised grill, new headlamps, new bumper with integrated fog lamps and new wheelcaps. The interiors remain largely unchanged but with subtle touches in terms of color and the two tone dash. The new Estilo gets driver side airbag, ABS, foldable rear seats, electrically adjustable ORVM, remote keyless entry, digital fuel indicator, power steering, power windows, front fog lamps, rear fog lamps rear defogger and a revised gearbox.

The new Estilo is available in eight colours – superior white, silky silver, dusky brown, Ecrú beige, quantum orange, bright red, emerald blue and midnight black. The new Estilo is being produced from MSI's Gurgaon plant, which also manufactures the A-Star and the Ritz.
