The Nissan GTR R35 is already a very desired vehicle and is one of the few cars which is being sold for a premium, that's how much demand this car has. However someone has made it all the more desirable by getting it matte finished. I wont say much, just look at the best looking Nissan GTR.

It might not be as fast as this GTR but still it looks so damn good. The photography does enhance it to a certain extent too. Apparently the owner spent $1700 for the paint job, money well spent.
