

Published based on Next Generation Porsche Cayenne

Next Generation Porsche Cayenne

Is it a frog? No its a Porsche Cayenne. The next generation Porsche Cayenne has been spied testing and is slightly smaller then the current generation Cayenne. After the rise of oil barrel prices there has been a sharp decline in the sales of thirsty full size SUVs and has forced Porsche to speed up development of the new Cayenne.

Though the current range of the Cayenne boast of some fantastic power plants, we would love to see a diesel or hybrid engine and we are pretty sure Porsche won't disappoint us. Porsche hopes to launch the new Cayenne by the first half of 2010.

You can also find this article published on Next Generation Porsche Cayenne, and on the tag pages Porsche Cayenne.