

Published based on Renault To Expand Car Line Up In India

Renault To Expand Car Line Up In India

Struggling big time in India with the terrible line up of cars, Renault has said it will offer a wider portfolio of vehicles to its Indian customers, even though the French automaker is constantly confused about its partners. Firstly Renault, it's not Mahindra's fault if you offer totally bland cars to us. We really hope Renault launches something more tasteful in the near future. We are sure they would when they are investing close to Rs. 4,000 crore in setting up a passenger car facility in Chennai with a total production capacity of four lakh units a year.

You can also find this article published on Renault To Expand Car Line Up In India, and on the tag pages Renault.