

Published based on Skoda Fabia Scout Spy Pictures

Skoda Fabia Scout Spy Pictures

Just today morning we were speculating if Skoda will launch the Fabia Scout in India. But now we can confirm the developments as we spotted the Fabia Scout on test. The car was heading towards Chakan from Mumbai and we followed it all the way till the driver took a break. The Fabia Scout on test was a base petrol variant and lacked an audio system and alloy wheels. The car had a 3-spoke steering wheel and was powered by the same 1.6 liter motor that powers both the Fabia and Polo cars. It did not look as imposing as you would expect a 4-wheel drive variant to look, but then its still under testing.

You can also find this article published on Skoda Fabia Scout Spy Pictures, and on the tag pages Skoda Fabia.