Tata Indica Petrol Gets Refreshed With e-Xeta

Tata Motors has grown fond of the world 'e'. Because most of their cars now use the word e, somewhere or the other. Take the Indigo e-CS, Indica e-V2 and now the Indica e-Xeta for example. The Indian automaker has not forgotten the petrol Indica and after the diesel e-V2 (which they claim to have the highest mileage in the country), the petrol Indica has been refreshed too. Dubbed the e-Xeta, the new Indica petrol gets remote keyless entry, power windows, central locking, Bluetooth connectivity, alloy wheels, fog lamps and audio system with USB and Aux ports. Tata Motors offers the Indica e-Xeta across GL, GLE, GLS and GLX variants in petrol and GLE and GLS variants across LPG versions.
