

Published based on Tata To Launch New Indigo Manza On 14th October

Tata To Launch New Indigo Manza On 14th October

Tata Motors will finally launch the next generation Indigo which will be quite similar to the Indica Vista on which it is based. The new Indigo is called Manza, whatever that is. Ratan Tata, the chairman of Tata Motors will launch the car in Mumbai on 14th October and the car will be packed with features such as steering mounted audio controls, alloy wheels, projector headlamps, ABS and airbags. The Indigo Manza will be powered by a 1.4L 16 Valve DOHC petrol powerplant with 95bhp on tap and a 1.3L Multijet (with VGT) diesel with 90bhp on tap. Both the engines are sourced from Fiat. The entry level Manza will cost Rs. 5.5 lakhs whereas the top end diesel will cost Rs. 7.45 lakhs.

You can also find this article published on Tata To Launch New Indigo Manza On 14th October, and on the tag pages Tata Indigo.