

Published based on Tata Motors Sales Decline In February

Tata Motors Sales Decline In February

Tata Motors last month sales went down 19.1% to 43,807 vehicles as against 54,181 units in February 2008. Tata Motors commercial vehicles sales went down 25%, while the passenger vehicles sales reported a marginal year-on-year growth of 1.5%.

"While the financial stimulus announced by the government, particularly for commercial vehicles, has had a positive impact, the retail market would still take some time to reach the corresponding period levels of the last fiscal," the company said.

However, the February figures reflect the highest sales for the company since September 2008. Tata sold 19,039 passenger cars last month, 4% higher than the previous month's sales. The commercial vehicles sales in February went up 35% from the January figure to 23,454 units. In the passenger vehicle category, Tata's mid segment sedan Indigo and the new variant of its flagship compact Indica together sold 15,524 units.

You can also find this article published on Tata Motors Sales Decline In February, and on the tag pages Tata.