Tata Nano Superdrive Concludes at Mumbai

The Tata Nano Superdrive came to an end at Mumbai today and presiding the occasion was none other than Ratan Tata himself. The Superdrive was a 15000 km journey across the country wherein 9 Nano's took 3 different routes to cover the major cities of India. It started on 2nd June, 2010 to celebrate the opening of Tata's new plant at Sanand, Gujrat. The Superdrive was an answer to all those who considered the Nano to be an unsafe car after random cases of fire had caught Tata on the backfoot.
