Tata Nano To Visit New York Design Museum

The Tata Nano will be on view at the prestigious Smithsonian's Cooper-Hewitt, National Design Museum in New York's from February 18 through April 25, 2010. A bright yellow Nano will be on display in Cooper-Hewitt's Great Hall, along with diagrams and a short film describing its concept, development and production.

"Cooper-Hewitt's mission is to present the very latest developments in design and technology and the Tata Nano introduces more families in India to the new world of affordable and safer mobility," said Cara McCarty, curatorial director of the museum. "We're eager to display the Tata Nano at the museum, where many visitors will see it for the first time."
