

Published based on Toyota Develops World's First Rear Seat Center Airbag

Toyota Develops World's First Rear Seat Center Airbag

Toyota has introduced the world's first rear seat center airbag that promises to help reduce the severity of passenger injuries in side collisions. The new Supplemental Restraint System (SRS) airbag is fitted in a large, fixed, rear seat center console and will make its debut in a version of a Toyota model to be launched in Japan later this year.

You can also find this article published on Toyota Develops World's First Rear Seat Center Airbag, and on the tag pages Toyota.