

Published based on New Volkswagen Polo With New Features Spied

New Volkswagen Polo With New Features Spied

The Volkswagen Polo has been widely acknowledged as one of the best hatchbacks in India. It has fantastic handling and exceptional quality. However many people complained about the equipment level in the car. But Volkswagen is one its way to address it. The company will launch more features in the Polo including steering mounted controls (audio and phone), Bluetooth connectivity and a new audio system to name a few. There is no confirmation from Volkswagen yet and we spied the car undergoing tests en route to Chakan. The Polo undergoing tests was very fast, which makes us believe that Volkswagen might be testing the 1.6 liter diesel (from the Vento) in the Polo. Although this hasn't been confirmed yet but more features in the Polo are not far.

Edit (13/05/2011) - We spotted the car yet again and this time we took high quality pictures. This new Polo is being tested with many new features including window controls on the remote. However that feature won't make it to the final version. The music system of the car was locked and was not working.

You can also find this article published on New Volkswagen Polo With New Features Spied, and on the tag pages Volkswagen Polo.