

Published based on Driving A Super Car

Driving A Super Car

We all are enthusiasts in some way or other. Some of us are speed freaks, while others are crazy about the noise a car motor makes. However due to the exorbitant prices of super cars we seldom get a chance to experience how a V8 engine feels when driven at full steam. Has it ever happened to you, that you are on the road, on your way to work and all of a sudden a super car roars past you. Surely that experience or rather encounter stays in your head for a few days with the noise of the machine ringing in your ears for days to come. Now to get that experience you either need to buy your own supercar (which is not that easy to do) or you have to borrow from your friends (that is if they have one, which is highly unlikely in most scenarios). So how do you get that V8 Race Experience?

Well there are many tracks (not in India yet) who offer this facility of renting a super car and driving it all day on a track. They also offer expert training to ensure you know what you are doing. The supercar races offered are in various ranges from 100km ones to 1000km ones. Imagine racing in a 600bhp racing V8 supercar meant for the race track where you are neck and neck with other drivers on the track. Although the cars are based on road cars, they have been modified for the track to give you the adrenalin rush which a turbo charged machine offers. The exposure is mind boggling and something which will help you in your day to day life (in driving ofcourse). Have you ever undertaken any such programme? Have you driven a rented supercar on the track? Share with us your experience in the comments section below.

You can also find this article published on Driving A Super Car, and on the tag pages Super Cars.