

Published based on Vacancy For Driving Supercars Now Open

Vacancy For Driving Supercars Now Open

This is undoubtedly the best job (motorsports not included) that an car enthusiasts would come across. UK's Repaircar is looking for drivers who can drive customer's supercars (Ferrari, Lamborghini, Aston Martin and the likes) from the customer's place to the company's workshop and vice versa. The British Company is on the lookout for a talented person who is fit for the job, having atleast 10 years of high performance vehicle driving experience in Europe. Once employed, the driver will have to pick and drop supercars at the customers house and will have to take public transport on the way back. The costs of the journey will be cover by Repaircar along with an yearly salary of around Rs. 22 lakhs. Got what it takes? Apply here.

You can also find this article published on Vacancy For Driving Supercars Now Open, and on the tag pages Super Cars.